

World Beverage Competition – Genève, Switzerland

Just a reminder that the World Beverage Competition (WBC) is now accepting participants for the 2009 Competitions. Last year entries exceeded 10,000 brands, this year is expected to be much the same. Judging will be held in the US again this year so now is the time to submit your entries before the deadline.

The combination of all the World Beverage competitions including the World Spirits Competition, World Beers Competition, World Wines Competition and World Beverage Competition will be judged and awarded simultaneously with announcements to the press on December 15, 2008.

The World Beverage Competition's familiar judging regimen and global brand participation and media exposure assures a competition worthy of your participation! Enter early to avoid missing the deadlines!
